MagneGrip™ shows long-term cost of owning exhaust extraction system

2/23/06

MagneGrip™ developed a Maintenance Schedule Chart that shows any maintenance that is needed for every part of their exhaust extraction systems. The chart shows how many years or the number of uses in between maintenance activities. It also lists the replacement costs for parts in the event a part has to be replaced.

“The initial cost of purchasing an exhaust extraction system can sometimes be misleading,” says Chief Tom Makken of Burlington Fire Department, Burlington, Maine.

“To my mind, the dependability of the system, how much maintenance is required, and the long-term cost to operate the system is much more important.”

The Maintenance Schedule Chart will help anyone considering an exhaust extraction system know what to expect in terms of long-term cost of ownership with a MagneGrip™ system. This can be used to compare with maintenance requirements for systems of other manufacturers, so purchasers can make better, informed decisions.
